

Solidarity Brigade to Cuba
Find out about the real Cuba
Winter Brigade: 18 December 2017 – 7 January 2018

Solidarity Brigades to Cuba are holidays with a difference: as well as volunteering you get to mix with people of different ages and backgrounds from all over the world, and learn about a fascinating country.

The Brigade provides a unique opportunity find out about the real Cuba away from the usual tourist trails. You can learn first hand about the achievements of the Cuban Revolution and gain an insight to the difficulties caused by the illegal US economic blockade. It is a practical way of showing solidarity with the Cuban people as well as building meaningful exchanges.

"It was a life-changing experience, a really wonderful, rich time in every sense. Humbling in the face of the blockade and its consequences – I will definitely go again, and encourage others to do so!"
—previous Brigadista

Part of the Brigade involves undertaking voluntary work in agricultural projects. Previous skills and experience are not required for the work and each person is expected to do only what they feel capable of.

The Brigade is arranged in conjunction with the Cuban international friendship organisation (ICAP) and consists of groups from European countries. Members of the Brigade (Brigadistas) stay at a purpose-built centre in the countryside, about 25 miles south west of Havana. The centre provides basic dormitory accommodation, meals, a bar and shop, basic sports facilities and lecture spaces.

As well as your voluntary work, your time in Cuba will contain a wide range of other activities.

Recent Brigade programmes have included:

- Visits to community projects, projects for people with disabilities, health and education facilities
- Meetings with representatives from the Student Unions, the Federation of Cuban Women and Trade Unions
- Visits to historical and cultural museums and centres
- Meeting top Cuban sportspeople and taking part in football and other sport activities
- Workshops and presentations on Cuban politics, health, education, internationalism, economics and more
- Film showings and meeting Cuban film-makers
- Meeting the families of the Miami 5, Cuban political prisoners until recently held in the U.S.
- Cuban and international cultural evenings and performances, dance classes and the chance to learn or practice Spanish
- A 3-4 night hotel stay (2*) in another part of the island for rest and relaxation, visits to beaches and nature reserves. Recent brigades have visited Vinales, Pinar del Rio, Matanzas, Santa Clara.

Beds are basic wooden bunkbeds in single sex dormitories shared with up to 6 others. We advise you to take your own sleeping bag or liner, pillow, towels and mosquito net. Bathrooms are also shared and basic – with no hot water. Please note that the camp has suffered from water supply issues (drought, lack of materials) in recent times so we advise you to drink bottled water where possible, take antiseptic hand wash, water purification tablets, and take precautions when using shared facilities to avoid the spread of illness. There are occasional power cuts.

Insurance

The Cuban Ministry of Tourism requires all visitors to Cuba to have a valid travel insurance policy, including comprehensive medical cover. You must check with your insurance provider that the policy is recognised and valid in Cuba. You must take an insurance cover note to Cuba to be shown to immigration authorities if requested.
